

Dear

I just became aware of a new online National Reading Project called Letter P.A.L.S. You can learn more about the project at www.letterpals.org. I have visited the web site, and they have developed a great way to get children to practice reading.

Letter P.A.L.S. is a teacher/classroom-orchestrated program only, and in order for us to participate, you have to register your classroom. I am very interested in having my child participate, and I am certain other parents/guardians will feel the same way. I hope you will consider signing up your classroom.

Sincerely,
